Cuisine for Healing

MISSION

When someone is fighting a life-threatening disease, their body needs additional nutrition. Yet, at a time when it's more important than ever to eat healthy, some people simply do not have access to the kind of food they need, let alone the energy or ability to shop for or prepare healthy meals.

Cuisine for Healing was created out of this need, OUR MISSION is to make nutritious, delicious food readily available to people combating life-threatening diseases, while providing education about the power of food to help the body in the healing process. Our driving VISION is a world where cancer and other related illnesses are prevented, treated, and even eliminated through the power of healthy food!

The need we face is great. The USDA reports that more than 23.5 million people in the United States do not have regular access to nutritious meals, and over one-half of them are low-income.

To fulfill our mission and work toward our vision, Cuisine for Healing's driving GOALS are:

To educate the communities we serve regarding healthy food and its documented ability to help the body in the healing process, prevent and combat disease, and aid in the overall well-being of the individual.

To make nutritious, delicious Cuisine for Healing Certified food easily available to clients that are in a health crisis and fighting life-threatening illnesses.

To make nutritious food available to all individuals, regardless of income level.

To partner with and support companies that share our mission and vision.

Cuisine for Healing

Cuisine for Healing would not exist without the kindness and generosity of partners in the community in which we live and work. In the past 7 years, Cuisine for Healing has grown from delivering 72 meals our first month, February 2010, to over 60,000 meals to date. We hear every day from clients we serve about the impact Cuisine for Healing is making on their lives.

What have been the Benefits?

“To say I’m thankful that Tarrant County has this food program, would be understating how it has helped to transform my fitness and energy while improving my diet tenfold. The terrific volunteers who deliver meals are the “face” of Cuisine for Healing, but there are so many others involved that can’t be overlooked. My praise goes to all involved in providing such a needed resource to us. Their program is top notch and run so well ... it’s perhaps the best kept secret in Tarrant County. I suggest that everyone battling, or who has battled, this dreaded disease check out Cuisine for Healing.”

My only regret?

That I didn’t learn about the program sooner, as I’m sure my healing would have been easier and sooner with Cuisine for Healing in my corner. January 2016 I was diagnosed with lung cancer. Due to its size, doctors believe my large tumor was growing for 2 years before a chest x-ray for Bronchitis, which was lingering for 6 months found it, and this very long journey began. With no doubt, Cuisine for Healing has been the bright spot in this cancer journey. Linda Knight Yarbrough

We would like to invite you to join Cuisine for Healing as a Community Partner Sponsor. Community Partner is a 12-month sponsorship. Enclosed is information that outlines three levels of opportunities for you or your company to support our mission.

Your support will ensure that Cuisine for Healing will continue to grow and help the many clients referred to us each day from partnering medical facilities. These clients, like Linda, need healthy nutritious food while in their battle with a life-threatening disease.
